The IPRO course syllabus guides the work of the team and its individual members. It defines the course requirements established by the lead faculty for a particular team as well as the IPRO Program Office. The syllabus briefly describes the vision, objectives, constraints, deliverables, events, requirements and grading for this course along with the following: Office hours and contact information for the instructor; Meeting time and location; Course learning objectives; IPRO learning objectives; Text and reference materials; Assessment mechanisms (deliverables, grading, surveys); Schedule of IPRO and ENPRO events. The syllabus is provided by the lead faculty at the beginning of the semester.

Do you have questions about the course objectives and requirements? Are the expectations of the faculty clear to you? If after you read the syllabus information below, you answer no to these questions, then please contact the faculty assigned to this IPRO course.
